

Optimizing Your React Application

Learn about optimizing React applications.

→ Optimizing Your React Application

In this article, you will learn about optimizing your React application. This is helpful if you want to learn how to speed up your React application using strategies that include virtualizing data, profiling user interface (UI) updates with dev tools and understanding the production build process.